Michael E. Kovack, Medina County Auditor, announced that his office has received information from the Ohio State Attorney General, Richard Cordray, listing the state offices that can answer questions on where to turn if someone feels he or she has been the victim of a scam or fraud.

“Over the course of the last several months with the state of the economy what it is, I have, on several occasions, listed particular scams seen in Medina County. The problem of scams and frauds has been with us for eons, but it has become particularly virulent over the last 2 years. Among the many reasons for this are the internet and the financial difficulties many find themselves in today. My hope is that this guide will be helpful to victims of this particular type of chicanery.”
